Russian Medical and Health Journals Online

To understand and treat the world's pressing medical and health issues of today, researchers need access to worldwide authoritative and timely research.

East View's Universal Database of Russian Medicine and Public Health Journals (UDB-MED) delivers timely research online, allowing researchers to easily access medical and public health issues from Russia.

The database is sourced from over 15 authoritative Russian sources on medicine and health, including the Russian Union of Pediatrics, Academy of Medical Sciences, and Association of Specialists on Prenatal Medicine.

Articles in the extended searchable library, with a number of articles dating back to 2000, cover the following areas:

- Infectious Diseases
- Pharmacology
- Skin Diseases
- General Practice
- Pediatrics
- Health Care
- Nursing and more

Many UDB-MED journals also contain Table of Contents in English and some include English abstracts. Articles found in UDB-MED are primarily in Russian.
